EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Augusta, June 6, 1866.

To Municipal Authorities:

A CONSTRUCTION has been placed upon the blank applications for State Pension, to which it is perhaps liable, though by no means intended, (as will appear by the instructions accompanying the blanks,) that every party applying shall declare him or herself a pauper. To correct this, in all cases in which persons applying are not receiving aid, either public or private, the third paragraph of the application signed by the proposed beneficiary, which declares the inability in the second line, should be changed by striking out the words "am," "and," and "continue to," so that line will read "obtain a livelihood for myself and those dependent upon me, and shall be compelled to," &c.

The object of this law is to relieve those who may be paupers, and prevent others from becoming so, and will be so administered.

NEW YORK, June 23.

The Herald's Ottawa, Canada, special despatch says—

Much excitement was caused in the Canadian Parliament by a speech of Mr Chambers, who declared that it was impossible for Canada to support troops enough to defend herself against the U. S. It was three millions against thirty-five millions.

He also called for an investigation into the conduct of some of the Provincial troops in the recent trouble, and denounced the management of the volunteers as a blunder.

NEW YORK, June 23.

The Post's special Washington despatch says:

It is reported that Chief Justice Chase has decided against the project for funding the public debt in long term banks to be exempt from taxation.

NEW YORK, June 23.

Two more cases of cholera are reported today, but the patients are said to be recovering.

The following article from the Savannah Republican, a Union paper published in the midst of secessionists, may be read with some satisfaction after any one of the Jesuitical invocations of the National Intelligencer in favor of traitors and Copperheads:

"The Ohio Democracy have been in convention, passed resolutions, listened to a few speeches replete with everything that is treasonable, erected their platform, and adjourned, flushed with the hope of being victorious in the coming election to fill a few unimportant offices in that State. The Vallandighams, Pendletons, et hoc genus omne, were the ruling spirits of the occasion.—When we take take into consideration the record these men have made for themselves during the past five years, it is not a matter of surprise that the Union party was charged with all the misery the nation has experienced. Their impudence is only surpassed by their inconsistency. At one time the bitterest opponents of President Johnson, they now laud him to the skies, and would use him as a mere tool in building up the popularity of a party with whose principles, as expounded by them, he never had, and cannot have, the slightest sympathy.

WASHINGTON, June 22.

The Surgeon General reports that he has supplied to soldiers needing artificial limbs two thousand one hundred and thirty-four arms, three thousand seven hundred and eighty-four legs, forty-four hands, nine feet, and one hundred and four apparatus; total, six thousand seventy-five, which have cost the Government three hundred fifty-seven thousand seven hundred and twenty-eight dollars.

Gen. Grant returns, not altogether well, from his western tour. He expects to visit New England this summer.

A CHANCE FOR THE DETECTIVES. The details of a bank robbery in Maine, under peculiar circumstances, present a favorable opportunity for the detectives to show their skill. Let them give the public a specimen of their work, and above all, if possible, let the burglars be arrested and brought to justice. In all probability there are several detectives in this city and New York who, though not aware of an intended break, would not give five dollars to be assured of the names of the perpetrators. It is a difficult thing to recover money and secure the thief when the sum is so large; for the temptation on the part of bank officers to assent to a compromise is very great. However, let the detectives show their skill, and they shall have the credit which will be due to them.—[Boston Journal.

—A singular accident is reported at Albany. Edward Rourk was sitting in the window of his house, reading a newspaper, as a railroad train went by. In doing so it struck a stone lying on the track, throwing it with great force through the open window. It hit Rourk, knocking him insensible to the floor and seriously cutting his head. It is thought he will not live.

Proposed Plan for Extending the American Union.

WASHINGTON, June 22.

A despatch from Nashville gives strong reasons for hoping that the Tennessee Legislature will ratify the Constitutional amendment and thus demonstrate that the loyal men of the South endorse the Congressional policy.

The report of James W. Taylor, Special Agent of the Treasury Department, on the trade of British North America, concludes with a plan for extending the American Union to the Arctic circle.

I give the first section of a proposed act of Congress which is to consummate this annexation:

Be it Enacted, &c., That the President of the United States is hereby authorized and directed whenever notice shall be deposited in the Department of State that the Governments of Great Britain and the Provinces of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Newfoundland, Canada, British Columbia and Vancouver's Island have accepted the proposition hereafter made by the United States, to publish by proclamation, that from the date thereof, the States of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Canada East and Canada West, and the territories of Selkirk, Saskatchewan and Columbia, with limits and rights as by this act defined, are constituted and admitted as States and Territories of the United States of America.

WHO DID IT? It has come to pass in these days of radical rule and "reform," that a man has to make returns to the government for taxation of nearly all that he hath, except his children and his poverty.—[Argus.

A writer in the Press asks: Who caused all this "tax" of which you now complain? Were you not the bosom friend of Jeff. Davis while he was here a short time before the war? Then was not the country going on peacefully and prosperously, until the South got up the war of secession, and you, and other Northern Copperheads joined with them? The result of which was defeat to the South, and a heavy debt levied on the country. You aided and abetted in bringing on these "taxes" which you now hypocritically complain of.

ILLINOIS COULD FEED THE NATION The Chicago Times boasts that Illinois is bigger than all New England, and moreover that out of 35,000,000 acres of land, Illinois contains 33,000,000 acres of tillable ground. Only one-seventh of this has yet been touched by the plow, yet this one-seventh has sustained its own population of 2,148,178, and furnished a surplus of food for exportation, enough no doubt to sustain two millions more. Now, if one-seventh of the state, with its imperfect culture, furnishes food for 4,000,000 of people cannot the whole State sustain a population of 25,000,000?

The Newburyport Herald says:—"All parts of Maine appear to be awake to the importance of domestic manufactures, and if the spirit that prevails there now can be kept up seven years, Maine will have a permanent foundation for greatness, surpassing any other State of New England."

LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS.

—The Oxford Democrat hears it said that the meeting for the organization of a Soldiers' League in Oxford County, is to be called at Paris on the anniversary of our National Independence.

WISCASSET RAILROAD. The Hallowell Gazette learns that an enthusiastic meeting of the friends of this road was held at Richmond Wednesday evening, the 12th instant; for the purpose of taking such action as might be found necessary to secure to Richmond the westerly terminus of this road. A committee of ten was raised to consult with the Directors of the road and learn from them what Richmond must do in the premises and then do it. The following gentlemen compose that committee: H. S. Hagar, Esq., Capt. J. Hathorn, James M. Hagar, Esq., Capt. George W. Chase, Dr. A. Libby, Hon. Sumner Adams, Daniel Clarke, Jr., J. T. Robinson, Wm. H. Startevant and F. B. Torrey.

—The Waterville Mail says that on last Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Wm. H. Pearson, a delegate to the State Convention from Vassalboro', was thrown violently upon the track, breaking his shoulder.

—Hon. James G. Blaine of Augusta, was, on Friday, nominated for re-election by acclamation, by the 3d District Republican Congressional Convention. Mr. Blaine is one of the ablest and most influential members of Congress.

—The Portland Argus says it appears that Ephraim Russell, who lost his life by leaping from a window at the Commercial House last week, was a somnambulist, and from childhood had been in the habit of rushing from his bed through doors and windows, in his sleep.

—A despatch to the Lewiston Journal says that the 29th Maine regiment sailed from Charleston on Friday last for New York. The men are expected to be at home this week.

—The Ellsworth American says that while some workmen were repairing the schooner "Globe" at one of the wharves, on Tuesday last she suddenly careened over, breaking both masts short off, and doing considerable damage otherways. One or two men were under her at the time, repairing the bottom, and barely escaped being crushed to death.

—A young man by the name of Moses Welch, who says he has resided in Lewiston for the last nine months, was arrested in Saco for passing counterfeit money. The money passed was a $6 dollar bill on the Rollstone Bank, Fitchburg, and in Welch's baggage was found $120 in counterfeit money, a majority of which was on the above bank. Welch was bound over for trial.

—The Lewiston Journal says the store of Messrs. Richards & Morrill was broken open Wednesday night. The thieves effected entrance by cutting out a pane of glass in a rear window. The value of the stolen goods is about $200.

HALL OF LINCOLN LODGE, No. 17,
Bucksport, June 23, 1866.

Whereas, God, in the order of his Providence, has seen fit to remove by death one of our number, Brother Geo. Arey, therefore.

Resolved, 1st, That in the death of Bro. Arey we acknowledge the prerogative of the Giver of Life, and the lesson taught, viz: "Be ye also ready."

Resolved, 2d, That in the death of Bro. Arey, the Lodge has lost one of its firm and worthy members, one who was true to his pledge to the last, and deeply interested in the success of the order

Resolved, 3d, That as a Lodge we tender our sympathies to the afflicted friends.

STATE BILLS. The cry against State bills seems to have been started by the Casco Bank, alone. UNION NOMINATIONS.

FOR GOVERNOR.

Gen. J. L. CHAMBERLAIN

For Representative to Congress.

4th Dist—JOHN A. PETERS, of Bangor

Shall the Amendment be Ratified or Not?

Those persons who profess to be in favor of the constitutional amendment recently adopted by Congress, and are yet opposed to making the admission of members from rebel States depend upon its ratification, remind one of the well known case of Ensign Stebbins, who, upon being questioned as a candidate for office, declared himself in favor of the Maine law, but "again its execution" They would keep the promise to the ear but break it to the hope What earthly probability is there that a single rebel State, except Tennessee and Arkansas, will ratify an amendment depriving them of unjust representation for unfranchised freedmen, and otherwise binding them over to keep the peace, unless their admission to Congress at all is made to depend upon such ratification? They will not do it—not one of them and the persons and papers who pretend to favor the terms of that amendment ought to know it There is danger and great danger that this amendment will be defeated—or will forever lack the proper number of States for ratification—if this condition is not applied to the admission of Southern members We do not say admission of Southern States, as the President insists that we mean—for the States are and have been in the Union all the time Nobody or no party sustains a "State suicide theory as falsely alleged The rebel States simply became disorganized, and lost their constitutional rights for the time being, by their rebellion—to be restored when the loyal Congress not the President, decides—otherwise we must say that any State may at any time rebel defy the government, and make war upon the people, and when defeated instantly return to Congress with all its power for mischief unabated and unrestrained A monstrous doctrine'—not a whit less monstrous or ruinous than the doctrine of secession itself Indeed, if we admit one, we must admit the other If a State has one of those 'rights' it has the other And yet the President and his supporters deliberately adopt this doctrine—that every rebel State upon having down its arms, steps back at once to all the rights, powors and privileges formerly enjoyed by it, and 'must have its instant and unconditional representation in Congress, whether Congress so wills or not, and even if such admission shall give such rebel States and their sympathizers an actual majority in Congress, and thus an absolute control of the government' We say the doctrine is a monstrous one—and those who sustain it might as well be secessionists at once and have done with it They are no better now—so far as the consequences of their doctrines would go

Do our loyal people—do our returned soldiers—wish to see such a doctrine prevail—that the red handed rebels whom they have been fighting have a right to send men back to Congress (even if pretendedly loyal) to represent them, and control northern men, without binding condition, limitation or restriction, the moment they, the said rebel States, are forced or choose to throw down their arms? Did the brave soldiers fight for this? We think not And yet papers which profess to be their peculiar and exclusive organs, are persistently advocating this doctrine in long and reiterated columns, day by day

In regard to the ratification of this constitutional amendment, we see that the President now argues (as does such spurious Republican papers as the Springfield Republican) that it would not be fair, just or proper for the present State Legislatures to ratify it, but that we ought to wait and give the copperheads and "conservatives" a chance to defeat the amendment, if possible, by getting in a copperhead or "conservative" Legislature or two in the coming elections A pretty way this to favor the amendment! Not so do the loyal people desire to see it favored No Not so did the recent State Convention, which nominated the gallant Chamberlain, understand the cordial approval which they gave to the amendment Not so did the speakers regard it The President even goes farther, and says that it ought not to have been even proposed by Congress, until the rebel States were all represented there Let us ask, then,—Why did he require them to ratify the anti slavery amendment previous to admission? They were no more in a "state of war" then than they are now They had thrown down their arms then just as much as they have now. The "insurrection" was as much at an end in June, 1865, as it is in June, 1866—and more too'—There is, in our opinion and in that of the loyal Congress, more rebellion at the heart of the South now than there was one year ago, and the President and those who insist upon imposing no further conditions know it, or ought to know it, full well. What right has the President to assume that he, and he alone, is the proper arbiter of the time and terms of admission? None at all, and the loyal men and brave soldiers of the north will never, in our judgment, admit that he has—if they know what they are about We say it is perfectly just and proper for the loyal States to go on now and ratify the amendment, if they choose They ought not to leave it to the chances of being killed by a copperhead Legislature or two which may be elected this fall by the help of Johnson conservatives. It is no more unjust than it was for the anti-slavery amendment to be thus ratified. If this is not done, and if the ratification is not made a condition precedent of the admission of southern members, our judgment is that neither this nor any similar amendment will be ratified, until after we have had another war with the South. And such a war will not long be delayed after the unconditional admission of the rebel States to Congress with augmented representation

The following letter appears to have been delayed in its passage

WASHINGTON June 8

Messrs Wheeler & Lynde.

The Chronicle of this city has the opening of what was designed to be a National Fair, Perhaps the description is a little "colore de rose," but, really, the show as a whole is very pretty, and to attain this result, a deal of hard work has been done by indefatigable and energetic ladies, and by gentlemen who came to their aid One wonders how ladies can work so hard, and hold out so long And if the truth were told, it would be found that many noble women have seriously injured their health through over exertion on these occasions, while some have lost life in consequence At this season, and in the District of Columbia, the obstacles, hindrances and delays have been such as only energy almost superhuman could have overcome Truly, we hope the orphans who are sheltered, clothed and fed by the money raised by this Fair will eat their bread in thankfulness, and if President Johnson's recommendation is carried out, and the rebel orphans are thus provided for we should hope that the insolent ingratitude of their fathers, who now take and demand as their right, the aid of the Freedman's Bureau would have no lodgment in the children's heart

As a National Fair this cannot be called complete, with but eight States even attempting a presentation, but if the plan were ordinarily carried out here in the winter season, the result might be quite magnificent Whether it could be, is perhaps a question, when the motto selected for your State was called "political,' and twice taken down' the last time torn up and thrown away' said motto consisting of two innocent lines written by Mrs Barbauld years ago (I think after visiting an English School)

'Man is the nobler growth our soil supplies
And noble are reputed south the Northern skies"

Poor Mrs B' little did she think those two lines would create such furore in the breasts of indignant Southrons in the capital of the great Yankee Nation' In taking it for a table that at this time could not make a great show in fancy articles, or any other articles, the lady who selected it thought it only fair that the State famous for its large men and solid rocks, should make some allusion to the fact' Upon showing the motto to Mr Baker, M C from Illinois, the western member said 'That is good—very good, it embodies both the aspiration and the conceit of New England' He added also, 'It is a just motto for you, and you have a right to it" So much for Western sympathy H C J

The Maine table is thus described by the Chronicle

Immediately on entering, on the east side of the building, is the table representing the State of Maine, in charge of Mrs Woodward of Maine, assisted by the Misses Bagley, Mrs Wharff, Mrs Colonel Talbot, Miss Hartley, Mrs Cole, and Mrs Weeks In front is an arch trimmed with evergreens, on which is inscribed the "Maine," and immediately over it the motto "They stood between us and destruction—their children are our legacy' Underneath the arch is the coat of arms of Maine The interior is handsomely decorated with flags and wreaths and stars of evergreen, with pictures of President Lincoln and the members of the House of Representatives of the Thirty-Ninth Congress, together with Gens Howard and Berry The goods on sale are mostly fancy articles Refreshments of different kinds may be obtained at this table

THE UNION CANDIDATE The Portland Press, which as our readers know, was very earnest and zealous in its advocacy of Mr Spring as the Republican Union candidate for Governor, up to the time of nomination now yields a very generous and graceful support to General Chamberlain, his successful competitor In the issue of Saturday the Press says

Gen J L Chamberlain, of Brunswick, who received the nomination of the Gubernatorial Convention at Bangor, on Thursday, is a gentleman whom the Republican party of Maine may with just pride present to the people as their candidate A man of distinguished ability and of admirable scholarship, yet modest and wholly free from assumption, of a character frank, honorable and manly, and of an untarnished reputation he would seem to possess all the qualities entitling him to the confidence of the party which will elect him, even without the brilliant military which is, perhaps, his warmest claim to the affections of the people As however, the General, despite his position and the esteem in which he has been held, has not hitherto been prominent in public life, some brief sketch of his personal antecedents may not be uninteresting

Here the Press gives the main incidents in Gen Chamberlain's gallant career, which our readers have heretofore seen, and closes as follows

The political antecedents of Gen, Chamberlain have, as was natural, been less widely known than his military record We are however, able to state that he was like many other staunch and true Republicans—bred in sympathy and affiliation with the Democratic party, but left that organization in 1856 when he threw his vote for Hannibal Hamlin Since that period he was uniformly acted with what is now the Union Republican party, and the whole weight of his personal and political influence has been thrown into the scale with those great principles which the Republican party was organized to sustain. And since the people of Maine are sure to elect him to the gubernatorial chair, there is every reason to believe that he will discharge the duties of that honorable position with ability, with faithfulness, and with acceptation

Prospects of the Union Party.

We predict, that, notwithstanding there is no great contest of principle to be fought for this year—nothing at least new—there will be one of the most enthusiastic campaigns ever seen in Maine

It is not extravagant to say that General Chamberlain will get ten thousand more votes in Maine than almost any man who could have been nominated At least, such is our belief Not that there are not hundreds of others who have the full faith of the party, but there seems to be an especial fitness in this selection that is a power irresistable.

That mystic chord of memory, stretching from a hundred battle fields of the war," will draw thousands to the polls that they may deposit for Joshua L. Chamberlain an expression of their esteem as perhaps the most complete embodiment of those characteristics which a fond people love to recognize. The Union party need no assessments of place-holders to perfect an organization and to "circulate documents." He who has led so many brilliant movements and who was deputed to receive the surrender of a proud army of the rebellion, is himself an organizer that cannot be beaten. Full 20,000 majority for the hero of "Little Round Top.—[Portland Star

Meeting of the Executive Committee of the Maine State Soldiers' and Sailors. Union.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Maine State Soldiers' and Sailors' Union was held in this city on Thursday evening, 21st inst

Col J Frank Miller, of Portland, presided Lt, W. E Stevens, of Bangor, was appointed Secretary protem

On motion, it was

Voted, That the membership fee to this Association be arranged as follows:

For all commissioned officers, $2 00
For non commissioned officers and privates, 1 00
Crippled and disabled soldiers, and all others who may need the pecuniary assistance of the Union, free.

On motion, it was

Voted, That the rule, requiring every member to sign in person his name to the Constitution, be dispensed with, that the Secretary of the Union be instructed to prepare a record book wherein all applications for membership shall be recorded, that these shall be submitted to the Executive Committee at their next regular meeting, and if the applicant is found worthy, a vote of acceptance by the Committee shall constitute him a member in regular standing

On motion of Gen J P Cilley, it was Voted, That the Secretary of the Union be directed to prepare without delay a printed circular setting forth the objects of this Association, sketching the proceedings of the State Convention held in Bangor on the 16th of May, and containing the Constitution then adopted, also setting forth the manner of application for membership, with such other information as may by him be deemed essential.

Voted, That applications for membership, togeth, or with the admission fee, may be forwarded to the Secretary of the Association, Lieut. W E. Stevens, Bangor, or to the Treasurer, Colonel E. T. Luce, Auburn

Voted, That members of auxiliary associations may become members of the State Association, immediately on payment of admission fee

Voted, That the Secretary be directed to forward this circular to all similar State Unions and Associations for their information, and also to the various county and town auxiliary associations for general circulation

Voted That the Secretary of the Maine State Soldiers' and Sailors Union be instructed to prepare a full, complete and accurate account of the proceedings of the Soldiers' and Sailors' State Mass Convention, held in Bangor on the 16th and 17th days of May 1865, together with a short sketch of the movements preliminary to that meeting, with a view to its publication in pamphlet form after it shall have been submitted to the inspection of the Executive Committee at its next meeting

Voted, That the next regular meeting of the Executive Committee be held at Portland on the second Tuesday in September, at 10 o'clock P M

Voted, That the members of the Committee labor unceasingly until that time to perfect the objects of this Association, and to organize local auxiliary unions throughout the State.

On motion of Col Hadlock, it was Voted That the Secretary of the State Union be instructed to apprise the officers of the Union of their election, the Secretaries of the Convention having neglected to do so

On motion, the Secretary of the State Union was directed to extend the thanks of the Soldiers' and Sailors' State Union to Mr Edwin P Blossom, of Messrs Worthington, Warner and Smith's Bangor Commercial College, for the elegant and unique roster of the officers of the Association, surmounted by an eagle and appropriate motto, the whole done with a steel pen, and contained in a substantial frame

No further business coming before the meeting, it adjourned to meet in Portland on the second Tuesday in September, when a full attendance of the Committee is expected

An Invaluable Spring Medicine.

DR J. W POLAND'S

HUMOR DOCTOR.

This excellent medicinal remedy was first prepared by Dr. P in 1847, and was then employed with great success in expelling humors from the blood, but in 1848, a medical friend, who was quite celebrated as a physician, especially in the treatment of humors, suggested some important improvements, which were adopted, and which have made it (as the people say,) the very best remedy for all kinds of humors known to "the faculty." This preparation is composed wholly of vegetables, among which are Sarsaparilla, Yellow Dock, Burdock, Noble Pine, Mandrake, Senna and Bloodroot Suffice it to say, the "Doctor" is used in hundreds of families as a general medicine. Unlike many other popular remedies, it is very grateful to the taste

News from Washington

Completion of the Explorations of the Amazon by Prof. Agassiz.

Severe Indisposition of Secretary Stanton.

INDIAN AFFAIRS.

Skirmish between a Party of Fenians and British Troops.

Later from Europe.

WASHINGTON, June 23.

The Navy Department has received despatches from Capt. Taylor, of U. S. steamer Susquehanna, dated New York June 22d, in which he states that while at Rio Janeiro the steamer arrived from Para, Prof. Agassiz and lady on board. The Professor has completed his explorations of the valley of the Amazon, and speaks in the highest terms of the kindness and attention shown by the Emperor of Brazil, who placed at his disposal a government steamer and other facilities as enabled him in a few months to finish a work that otherwise would have required years to accomplish.

Secretary Stanton has been confined to his house for the last three or four days by severe indisposition.

It appears from a letter received at the office of Indian Affairs, that the commission appointed to treat with the various tribes on the Upper Platte river, have arrived at Fort Sully, Dakotah Territory, and had their first organization, on the 1st inst. The Sioux and Upper Butte Sioux were represented by four of their most prominent and influential chiefs, and the head of the Choyennes and Arephoes were also in attendance. On the 5th the first formal Council was held with the Sioux, the attendance of the chiefs and people being very large. The commissioners read to them their opening address, setting forth the object of their mission and explaining them that it was not the desire of the Government to purchase their country, but simply to establish peaceful relations between them, and to obtain from them recognition of the right of the Government to open and use through their country such roads as may be deemed necessary for the public service and for emigrants; to mining districts of the West.

On the 6th, five prominent chiefs of the Sioux and Butte bands responded to the address, expressing the opinion that a treaty could and would be made; and on the 8th, the Indians left for their wigwams to return with their people, permission having been given for that purpose. Upon their return it is hoped to hold another formal council with the united bands of Sioux. A messenger had also been dispatched to the Chiefs of the Cheyennes and Arapahoes; the commissioner hopes to secure the attendance of the representatives of these tribes. The general feeling of all these Indians on the Upper Platte is represented as friendly.

WASHINGTON, June 24.

The receipts from the Internal Revenue to-day amounted to $3,000,000.

A letter dated Paris, June 7, received in this city, says:

The steamer which is about to leave St. Nazaire for Mexico will carry out an autograph letter from the Emperor Napoleon to Maximilian. According to what is affirmed here, the first of the two sovereigns decrees that the Mexican Custom House shall be placed under French administration as a guaranty for the Mexican loan, converted at three per cent. It is also stated that in case of the acceptance of this proposition by the Mexican government, the French troops will be immediately recalled. If on the contrary, as is probable, an arrangement should be made between the two allied governments, the terms announced for the decrease of our troops will be maintained.

NEW YORK, June 24.

Montreal despatch to the Herald states that a skirmish occurred on Friday evening at Pigeon Hill between a Fenian reconnoitering party and an outpost of British troops. The Fenians retreated across the line. No lives were lost.

Ottawa, Canada, despatch states that the volunteers have been discharged with a complimentary order from Gen. Napier.

NEW YORK, June 24.

James Brennan was shot dead last night in a house on Centre street while commencing a row.

Rio Janeiro letter of the 8th inst. states that Professor Agassiz had arrived there.

Several injunctions against the excise law in favor of the liquor dealers were dissolved yesterday by Judge McCunn.

Two men were seriously burned yesterday by the explosion of gas in a room where there was a leak in the pipes into which they put a lighted lamp.

Dr. McElrath took Paris Green by mistake for medicine yesterday and died.

Fire in the engine room of Steinway's Piano Manufactory yesterday did $5000 worth of damage.

Seventy-five hundred dogs were slaughtered during the first week.

Two hundred and thirty liquor dealers were arrested yesterday for being unlicensed.

BRITAIN.

The London Times says:

The opinion seems to have arisen that after Canada's experience no serious attempt will be made to oppose the seven pounds duty, etc.

FRANCE.

France believes the rumors of an exchange of Imperial Message and the issue of a circular are unfounded, and says should M. Rouher be questioned on the policy of the government he will only repeat the 3d of August declaration.

SPAIN.

It is said O'Donnell has expressed an opinion that the year 1866 will not pass without Spain having to defend her territory.

ITALY.

In the Chamber of Deputies the first article of the bill for the suppression of all religious bodies throughout Italy was almost unanimously adopted.

AUSTRIA.

The Emperor has started for the headquarters of the army of the North.

HUNGARY.

Much distress prevails throughout the Kingdom.

PRUSSIA.

The Minister of the Interior has been deputed by the King to reply to the various addresses in favor of peace. He regrets the absence of that devotion which characterized the Breslau address.

The convocation of the Holstein estates by Austria has not been annulled by Austria.

The Austrian Ambassador has not left Berlin.

BAVARIA.

The popular agitation against Prussia increases.

The Ultra Montane party is desirous that Bavaria should take part with Austria.

Efforts are being made to cause the King to change his Minister who maintains the policy of declaring war against the power that shall commence the war.

THE DUCHIES.

Austria has protested against the entry of the Prussians into Holstein, declaring such a step to be a violation of the Gastein convention.

The Prussians have occupied Brunstedt, Horst and Itzehoe, and will occupy immediately Gluckstadt and Emshorn.

General Monteuffel had arrived at Itzehoe.

Prussia has appointed Baron Scheel Plessen President of Schleswig Holstein. He has issued a proclamation stating that Gen. Monteuffel will proceed against any acts which Prussia regards illegal on the part of the former government or the estates about to meet.

The opening of the estates is expected with much anxiety.

Gen. Monteuffel has issued a proclamation stating that the King of Prussia intends in conformity with the principle of the unity of both Duchies to Convoke the estates of Schleswig-Holstein in order to prepare for this unity, the necessary preparations for thif convocation have been made.

THE PRINCIPALITIES.

The Chamber has rejected the proposal for an issue of thirty-two millions in forced currency.

Thirty-Ninth Congress.

FIRST SESSION.

WASHINGTON, June 23.

Senate.

A bill was introduced to secure the speedy completion of the Northern Pacific railroad. Referred.

Mr. Sprague called up the resolution to reimburse the State of Massachusetts for expenses incurred in the purchase of arms and ammunition, &c., for coast defences in the sum of $475,000.

Mr. Fessenden called up the tax bill.

The first question was on agreeing to the amendment of the finance committee to make the salary of the commissioners of internal revenue $6000, which was agreed to.

In the clause on the authorizing the employment of fifty-five copyists in the revenue bureau, the committee recommended the substitution of the words, "female clerks for copyists." Agreed to.

Mr. Fessenden moved to amend by adding the following proviso to the tax on furs:

Provided, That on all articles made of furs the retail price of which shall not exceed $20, a duty of two per cent. only shall be paid. Adopted.

Mr. Fessenden moved to reconsider the vote by which salt petre was added to the free list, but subsequently withdrew the motion.

Mr. Fessenden offered an amendment to one of the sections as follows:

Provided that when such imported articles except lucifer and friction matches, cigar lighters, wax tapers, shall be sold in unbroken packages, the person so selling such articles shall not be subject to any penalty on account of the want of the proper stamp. Adopted.

Mr Fessenden offered an amendment taxing steel made directly from nut bars $8 per ton. Adopted.

Mr Edmands offered the following, which was agreed to—

From any converted bank or converted banking association whose total average circulation, including State bank notes as well as national currency shall not exceed the amount of circulation allowed by the act from a national currency.

The above is added in the bill to the following provision—

Provided further that whenever any State bank or banking association has been or shall be converted into a national banking business, including making of loans and the securing of deposits, there shall be collected in addition to the taxes already imposed a tax of ½ of 1 per cent. each month upon the average amount of the circulation outstanding of any such State bank or State banking association.

Mr Hendricks offered an amendment that when a railroad, canal or other such company shall owe accrued interest on its indebtedness which it is unable to pay, the tax of 5 per cent. on its coupons shall not be paid until the company is able to pay the interest on its indebtedness, which was agreed to. Adjourned.

House.

Several bills for the relief of sundry persons were acted upon.

Joint resolutions were passed authorizing a building to be hired for the State Department, and printing an official history of the rebellion.

The bill establishing a land office and register in Idaho was passed.

The bill reimbursing Massachusetts was considered and discussed, when the tax bill was taken up.

Mr Washburne of Illinois presented correspondence with the Secretary of State in reference to the Rinderpest, which was referred to the committee on commerce.

Mr McRuer introduced a bill to relinquish the title to the town of Santa Cruz, California, which was read twice and referred to committee on commerce.

Mr Washburne, from the committee on claims, reported bill to pay to Dr Edward Jarvis $1500 in full for services rendered in connection with the preparation of the U.S. census of 1860. The bill was passed—32 to 41.

Mr Washburne also reported bill to pay $400 to Eleanor Rawson to indemnify her for losses sustained through the sinking of steamer North America on a voyage from New Orleans to New York—she having been on board as volunteer nurse to sick and wounded soldiers. On motion of Mr Stevens the bill was amended by making the appropriation $500, and, as so amended, was passed.

Adjourned.

LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS.

NEW HOUSES IN OUR CITY. Among the first-class dwelling houses erected or finished in our city this season, not before mentioned by us, is an elegant mansion on Broadway, corner of Somerset Street, by Mr. Wm. T. Pearson, now about half completed, and to cost, with the land, about $25,000.

There is also a fine house in process of construction at the easterly corner of Broadway and Cumberland Street, by Mr. Chas. Woodman of Burlington, in this county, a gentleman of wealth and an extensive lumber operator, who proposes to make our city his residence.

On the opposite, westerly corner, our townsman, Mr. Philo Strickland, will erect a first-class house this season upon the fine lot adjoining the residence of his father, Hastings Strickland, Esq.

On State Street, we have already mentioned the elegant mansion of Mr. Michael Schwartz, as remodeled and enlarged from the house built by our first Mayor, Allen Gilman, Esq., and recently occupied by Leonard Jones, Esq.

Farther up State Street, at the corner of Birch Street, Mr. Edward Conners has commenced the erection of an expensive and elegant house. It is nearly opposite the fine residence of Mr. O'Donohue.

On the corner of State and Fruit Streets, Mr. Chas. G. Wilson has just finished a first-class house, which adds much to the tasteful and attractive appearance of that part of the city.

On West Broadway, Mr. N. H. Bragg is about completing one of the most beautiful and expensive houses in the city—in a commanding position—and adding one more to the rapidly increasing first-class residences of that locality.

On Ohio Street, two excellent houses of similar style and finish have been completed on the east side of the street, a short distance above Boynton Street—one by Mr. J. N. Chandler, and the other by Mr. Simeon Nash.

On the same Street, near Hammond, two more nice houses standing side by side, and of uniform build and appearance, are in process of completion—one of them owned by Mr. Henry A. Wood, and the other by Mr. Charles B. Brown.

On Fifth street, Mr. E. W. Elder has completed his house in a very elegant and substantial manner, and now offers it for sale. It is finely located, spacious and convenient, and one of the most thorough built houses in town. To any one desirous of purchasing a first-class dwelling it is every way desirable.

Although not coming under the head of improvements of private dwellings, we should also notice in this connection, the addition and great enlargement and improvement of the FRANKLIN HOUSE, kept by the Messrs. McLaughlin,—to which by the erection of another wing on the west of five stories in height, and with a handsome French roof, there have been added to the hotel more than fifty new rooms—making it double its former capacity, and equal to the largest houses in accommodations. The improvements, which are not yet completed, and which will cost some $12,000, will be further noticed when done. The new suites and sleeping rooms are large, well ventilated and furnished, and have nearly all of them an open and pleasant view from the windows. The lower part of the house, including the office and other public rooms, is to be remodeled and modernized.

There may be other houses which ought to be included in the term "first-class," among the thirty or forty now erecting; but the above are all that now occur to our mind.

We should notice, perhaps, in this connection, some other excellent re-modeled houses like that of Mr. A. G. Hunt on French St., and one or two complete and expensive stables, like those of Mr. Hunt and Mr. Josh W. Palmer, but we leave them for another time.

BURGLARIOUS. On Friday night last, the store of Mr. Lorenzo E. Sabine, in Brewer, was entered by burglars, and about $60 worth of goods stolen. The safe was blown open, but the rogues obtained nothing there for their pains.

AFFRAY IN THE JAIL. On Friday evening two of the prisoners in our jail, one a negro and the other a foolish fellow of a white man, got into a fight, and an assistant of the jailor went in to separate them. The negro had the other down, and the assistant struck him on the head to make him let go his hold. This being the toughest part of the negro's person, of course the blow had no effect—but he at once turned and tried to force his way out of the jail. In the scuffle he succeeded in forcing the assistant out of the door, and as far as the office, when assistance having been called by Mrs. Whitney, he was secured. Mr. Whitney was absent at the time.

A NEW MAP OF NORTH AMERICA, by Lloyd, the famous map-maker, has just been issued, is now offered for sale by the general agent for Penobscot County, Mr. Charles Clark of Corinth. It shows what the maker calls the United States Continent of the year 1900—embracing everything from the North Pole to the Isthmus of Darien. The map has been some years in preparation, and is believed to present a very accurate view of the United States, including all the present new States and Territories, and also all the countries adjacent to our own. On the back is a county map of all the States on a much larger scale. Each map contains twenty-four square feet. The price on paper is $2,50.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING. During the shower on Friday afternoon, a house occupied by Mr. Hepworth, near the railroad crossing on Essex Street, was struck by lightning, the chimney somewhat shattered, carpets torn up, &c., but no person injured.

We understand also from Mr. Sargent of the Penobscot River Express, that a house was struck in Bucksport, and the top of the chimney shattered. The fluid passed down into the house, but without injuring any person.

—The alarm of fire yesterday afternoon was from a partial fire at the Hinckley & Egery foundry at the foot of Broadway. It was extinguished before the engines arrived.

—We are indebted to the Penobscot River Express for Boston papers of Friday evening, per steamer Katahdin, in advance of the mail.

THIRD AND FINAL SALE OF PAINTINGS THIS EVENING. The interest to see the fine paintings at Concert Hall continues without abatement. Since these pictures were opened to the public they have been visited by hundreds of our citizens who have expressed their admiration of them. This evening the sales will be concluded, and will afford an opportunity hitherto unequalled for obtaining fine pictures at optional prices: as we learn that it is the intention of the proprietor to make an entire finish of the sales to-day. Go and see the paintings, for they recommend themselves far better than we can. The exhibition room will be open from 8 o'clock this morning until the time of sale.

A THING THAT WILL CUT BOTH WAYS. The following circular has been received by some business firms in this city:

BOSTON, June 15.

We beg leave to inform our customers that after the 30th day of June, bills of all State Banks in New England, will not be received for deposit by the Boston Banks.

Consequently, on and after June 25th, all settlements must be made in National Bank Bills or United States Treasury Notes.

Yours respectfully,
LEWIS, BROWN & Co.

The determination of the Boston Banks as above is one of the most stupid as well as unjust of movements. Our State Bank bills are redeemed in Boston, and should be received on deposit the same as National bills. One of our merchants requests us to add the following to the above:

BANGOR, June 21, 1866.

I beg leave to inform my creditors in Boston that after this date all settlements will be made in solvent New England Bank Bills.

Consequently, all parties in Boston refusing to accept such bills in payment of accounts, while redeemable at the Suffolk Bank or Bank of Mutual Redemption, will not receive any patronage from this establishment.

Yours respectfully, E. A. C.

FROM BOTHWELL. A letter from Bothwell states that the Penobscot well had been sunk to the rock, striking it at a depth of 114 feet. The engine would be ready to commence drilling in the rock in a few days.

The Stetson well was being tested, but nothing definite ascertained at the time the letter was written. All indications were favorable to a successful result.

BARRETT'S DYE HOUSE, said to be one of the best in the country, advertises to do all kinds of work in that line in a manner satisfactory to customers. Mr. J. P. Bass is agent in this city, and will receive and return work without extra charge.

—Commodore Ross has fitted up the barge Fairy of the Wave in fine style, and will open the excursion season July 4th, by a trip to Castine, giving the people a chance for a pleasant time, and a breath of salt water air, all for one fare.

—The Portland Star learns that Dr. Moses Mason, of Bethel, died on Monday of congestion of the lungs, after a few days illness. Dr. Mason once represented his district in Congress. He was for many years one of the most eminent physicians of Oxford county, but retired from active practice several years ago. His age was about 75.

THE BOWDOINHAM BANK ROBBERY.—The following account was sent to the Boston Journal:—

BOWDOINHAM, June 22.

Probably the heaviest bank robbery that ever took place in Maine, occurred in this quiet village at an early hour this morning. The National Village Bank, was plundered of every dollar contained in its safe, together with a large quantity of bonds, &c., amounting in all to the sum of about $75,000. Of this amount the bank loses in cash and bonds about $10,000. About $65,000 in bonds belonged to individuals in the neighborhood, who had placed them in the bank for safe keeping. These consisted of United States, State of Maine, and Portland & Kennebec Railroad bonds. The robbery was one which for boldness of execution and originality of conception is rarely excelled The facts in connection with it, as told me by Robert, Butterfield, the Cashier of the bank, are as follows: At about two o'clock this morning Mr. Butterfield says that he was aroused from his slumber by receiving a blow upon the head, which for a moment stunned him, and upon awaking saw three men, their faces disguised with masks, standing by his bedside, armed with pistols and knives, who immediately seized him and demanded the keys of the bank. To this Mr. B. made no reply, whereupon he was tied with small cords, being bound hand and foot and a gag placed in his mouth, made of a pillow case which one of the ruffians took from the bed. Not complying with the demand which was made, Mr. B. was then violently choked until he was forced to tell, which he did by pointing where the keys were concealed. In the same bed lay a little son of Mr. B., about eight years of age, who was seized at the same time, and bound in a similar as his father.

The screams of the boy awoke his mother who was asleep in an adjoining chamber with a sick infant, who, on rising up in bed, found that two of the ruffians, who as they entered the room had extinguished her light, and whom she beheld by the aid of a dark lantern they had, were standing over her, and who threatened if she made the least disturbance to take the life of her infant.—"We do not want your lives," they said; "we have been in this bloody war and it's money we want." "We want the money in the bank." She was then left in the care of one of the scoundrels, who acted as a guard over her, another performing the same service in her husband's room, while the third, who had possession of the keys, descended the front staircase, and joining a companion who was watching outside, proceeded to the bank which was but a short distance from the house.

The building was entered at once, and the door of the vault, which is located on the ground floor, was opened, and the outer door of the safe, which was inside the vault, was unlocked. But the inside door of the safe, which has one of Hall's patent locks, they could not unlock; whereupon one of the party returned to Mr. Butterfield's residence, and, with the one who was watching him, unpinioned his feet and took him to the bank, where they forced him to open the door. After this was accomplished they then rebound him, and at once proceeded to clear the safe of its contents, which they placed in a bag.

Mr. Butterfield was then conveyed back to his house and placed in his chamber. His wife was then bound and gagged, after which procedure the robbers decamped with their booty.

During this time Mrs. B. was not conscious that her husband had been taken from the house. She was assured that he was perfectly safe and uninjured. At her request the little boy was brought into her room, who was suffering very much by the tightness of the cord around his ankles. At the request of his mother the cord was loosened by one of the robbers, by which means the boy was enabled subsequently to unloosen himself and alarm two domestics in a rear chamber of the house, who, after considerable delay occasioned by fright, came to the rescue and all the parties were released.

Pursuit was given in different directions by the citizens. It is supposed that the robbers, after they had plundered the safe, took their flight in a direction, according to indications found in a piece of woods near the road, to Brunswick, where were also found several pairs of stockings, pieces of cord, and a Montreal newspaper bearing date of the 15th inst.

There is a deep suspicion that one of the robbers is a stranger who has been seen several times for a few days past. He is a young man, rather under height, with a full red smooth face, wore a linen coat and an English cut waistcoat. One of his hands had two fingers gone. During the pursuit this morning he was accosted about four miles above this village, on the road to Gardiner, with a carpet-bag which appeared full, by one of the parties in pursuit, and stated, on being questioned, that he was a peddler and had passed the night at a house in that vicinity, which proved to be true, and he was permitted to go on.

On arriving at Gardiner, I have ascertained for a certainty that he went to a bookstore in that city at about 8 o'clock, where he purchased a large pocket-book. It was observed that he displayed a large amount of money while paying his bill, by the bookseller, several of the bills that were seen being of one hundred dollar denominations. It was also observed that he handled his money in a manner which indicated that he came in possession of it suddenly, and was not accustomed to handle large amounts.

The President of the bank has offered a reward of $5000, as follows: $3000 will be paid for the recovery of the bonds and money, or a proportionate sum for a less amount, and $2000 will be paid for the apprehension of the thieves.

A REMARKABLE ESCAPE. The most remarkable escape from personal injury, if not death, that has come to our knowledge for many a day occurred on Saturday last, a few miles west of Iowa City. As the regular passenger train coming East was nearing that point a man was discovered walking along the track. The whistle was sounded once, twice, thrice, and no attention paid to it by the slowly plodding pedestrian. The engineer, supposing that it was some laborer walking home from his day's work and that he would step off as soon as the engine got too near him for safety, did not at first reduce speed, kept on at the rate of about twenty-five miles an hour. But when he saw that the cow-catcher was at the man's heels and he yet made no signs of leaving his rail lined path, steam was shut off and the train brought to a stop; not, however, until after the man had been violently thrust aside in a most fearful manner.

In much less time than it takes here to describe the shock, the man was picked up by the swiftly approaching cow-catcher, struck, as it is supposed, between the legs, and thrown in the air a distance of some twenty feet, making at the same time one of the most frightful leaps and somersaults that man ever need wish to make. As soon as the train was stopped the employees rushed back, expecting to find a mass of mangled flesh and broken bones, but imagine their surprise on beholding the man walking toward them just as coolly, calmly and deliberately as if nothing had happened. He proved to be a deaf and dumb man evidently on his way to Iowa City to attend the institution for such persons at that place. His name and place of residence could not be learned, as no one understood his signs and motions. The only injury he received was a slight bruise at the back of the head. He was saved by the novel manner in which the iron horse hustled him aside, and the fact that after performing his wonderful gymnastic feat he landed upon a bed of sand.

Whig & Courier

An Inside View of the Rebellion

"Porte Crayon" is writing for Harper's Monthly, a series of papers entitled "Personal Recollections of the War" which are very valuable and interesting. The writer is a Union Virginian, (a son of the venerable Judge Pendleton,) who resided in the famous Shenandoah Valley, at the commencement of the war, and soon went into the Union army. In his number published in the July Harper he gives an inside account of the state of things in Virginia in the winter and spring of 1861, from which we extract as follows:

The National Government had thus far lost every thing by its temporizing and conciliatory policy. The conservative and deprecatory Unionism of Jefferson and Lower Virginia generally was by this time virtually dead. The Secessionists had justified their boasts, and now owned the souls, bodies, and estates of the late Union majority by as absolute a tenure as that by which they held their African bondsmen. It was a despotism, moral, social, and political, the most absolute that was ever seen or conceived of As time passed it was interesting and amusing to gather up the arguments, motives, plans, reasons, and hopes upon which men based and justified their action. The expression of the rank and file rarely reached beyond the commonplace and indefinite gabble about "Southern rights," "Our slave property," "Sacred soil," "Virginia is gone out," "No right to coerce a State," "Damned Abolitionists," and such other catch-words and phrases as had been furnished by their adroit and subtle leaders As many of these follows were neither native Virginians nor even native Americans, and most of them entirely innocent of the crime of slave-owning, it is to be supposed that they had but a dim comprehension of the significance of these phrases; yet they were not the less zealous for that.

A more knowing class would inform you that the United States Government had become utterly corrupt, rotten to the core, and was hastening with fearful rapidity toward anarchy and agrarianism. The South, to preserve her purity and vitality, must separate herself from this foul body You might answer that the Government had worked well enough when pure and able men directed it; and if of late years it had become corrupt and feeble (a truth in which I fully concurred,) had it not deteriorated under the management of the very men who now appeared as the self-constituted founders of a Southern Confederacy? But the experiment of popular government is a failure. It has been tried and found wanting The extension of popular rights, universal suffrage elective judiciary, and all similar concessions to the great popular whole must be withdrawn This could only be done by the secession and separate nationality of the South We will establish there "a government of broadcloth and brains" This, I believe, was a characteristic epithet invented by Senator Wigfall, and was usually repeated vote voce, emphasized by a complaisant glance at the speaker's own coat, and a significant touch with the forefinger upon his frontal sinus. It might again be remarked that such declarations, coming from men who had attained power and place by asserting the most extreme Democratic ideas, must convince the country that they were either grossly incompetent as statesmen—or that they were hypocrites, utterly unworthy of confidence. They must perforce accept one or the other horn of this dilemma. Moreover, how is this governsng body of ——— to be designated? The vast wealth which is to inundate the South six months after a proposed date will enable every man to wear broadcloth ad libitum; but how is the question of brains to be settled?—by accepting a man's own estimate, or by turning him over to a Committee of Congress"

"Pish!" exclaims our impatient interlocutor, "all these details will be arranged afterward. The plan is, that no man shall be recognized as a gentleman or have a voice in the government who does not own a nigger"

"One poor nigger!"—Bah!—that will be cheap entrance-fee into your House of Peers, scarcely equal to the old property qualification which these same gentlemen were so eager to abolish ten years ago."

"Let us put the qualification up to twenty negroes, or a hundred, if you like."

"Any arrangement will suit, my friend, so that you and I are one of the annointed."

A third saw in the Confederacy the realization of an idea such as none but the brain of a Southern statesmen could conceive An assemblage of independent sovereignties, forming a national league, so nicely and delicately adjusted that while each State should have the right to nullify, veto, and despise the decrees of the central power and secede from it at pleasure, at the same time the combination would be powerful enough to overawe Yankeedom, enforce alliances with France and England, annex Cuba and Mexico, reopen the slave trade, raise cotton, and bully the world.

The next fellow you meet was cock-a-hoop for a monarchy—elective or hereditary, it didn't matter. Popular rights was a humbug. The insolence and ignorance of the masses had become insufferable, "———" State Sovereignty was also a humbug,—a synonym of anarchy, best illustrated by the fate of the Kilkenny cats State lines were to be abolished, and absolute centralization established under a king—ay, call him a king, and let him wear a crown. "When a government fails for want of power to sustain itself, falls into disintegration from excess of the Democratic idea of local and individual independence, to what possible end can a revolution lead if not to establish principles the opposite of those which have caused it?"

"There is philosophy in what you say, my neighbor, but how is your kingdom to be established?"

"We have the power already in our hands and the men—"

"The monarch, the court, and aristocracy are doubtless ready, but where are your subjects? Can you convert the hereditary free-man of five generations into serfs by a simple edict?"

"Yes. They have not so far to go as you might suppose."

To those familiar with the workings of political power in the Southern States, these assertions will hardly appear rash or unfounded.

Again, those who had large interests in the slave-breeding States, fearing the depreciation of their peculiar wares, did not admit the African slave-trade into their plans. The cotton planters reveled in visions of free trade with all the world; while it was confidently proclaimed that under a tariff, high enough to prohibit Yankee competition, Virginia and the other Border States would grow up vast manufacturing interests, and Richmond would in a few years rival Birmingham.

Many were still sanguine enough to believe that the great end (whatever it might be) would be accomplished without a serious war. A strong political party in the North was pledged to acquiescence in the movement; the commercial interests of the Free States would render them averse to war; the modern Samson, whose hair was cotton (Sea Island growth, long fibre,) would control them as he would the rest of the world. In short, England and France could not and would not permit a long war—they were pledged.

The Confederacy then was an accomplished fact. All that remained to be done was to complete the arrangement of details, about which every body differed radically and irreconcilably, and to portion out the honors and profits of the new concern which everybody coveted. Youthful enthusiasts reveled in dreams of unbounded wealth, pomp, luxury, and immemorable progress; while some of the most judicious were troubled with doubts lest the star of the new nation might be prematurely dimmed, or its vigor corrupted by the very vastness of its assured prosperity Indeed it was difficult to find, out of the so-called thinking classes who had not a theoretic plan for the new government; a plan which, while it secured the expounder's especial interests, was calculated at the same time to raise the prospects of the Confederacy to an amazing height.

The following is his description of the burning of fifty locomotives by the rebels at Martinsburg

On the 20th of June we started for Martinsburg, I on horseback, my family in a carriage under the guardianship of a friend who kindly volunteered to accompany us, it being considered unsafe to trust a servant alone with the horses in these troublesome and uncertain times. As we approached Martinsburg late in the afternoon we heard a strange singing and screaming in the air which resembled the notes of a gigantic Æolian. These sounds grew more distinct and definite as we advanced, and still nearer the town we perceived immense columns of black smoke rolling up between us and the setting sun, and tinging the whole landscape with a coppery hue. As these clouds rose from the direction of the railroad shops it was easy to imagine their origin; but the accompanying sounds were unaccountable, until, turning into one of the lower streets of the town, a scene was suddenly presented to us which more resembled a dream of Dante's Inferno than an exhibition of real life.

Jackson's brigade were performing a grand "auto da fe" upon the rolling-stock of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. The foreground of the picture was occupied by a ruin of classic form and beauty—that of the pillared viaduct which had been destroyed some weeks before On the open space in front of the work-shops stood, ranged upon the tracks, between forty and fifty locomotives roasting amidst the flames of a thousand cords of wood, distributed, refreshed, and stirred up continually by a brigade of wild Confederates. The rocks, hills, and houses which surrounded the place of execution were crowded by many hundred spectators, the old men, wives and children of those who had depended on the road for their subsistence.

Twilight was approaching, and as the lurid light of the fires prevailed the aspect of the scene grew still more unearthly. The rebel-soldiers, with their bronzed faces, raggedly picturesque costumes, and fiendish activity, were not unworthy representatives of the familiars of Belzebub They worked in silence too, with the sullen and desperate look of men who were executing the work of Fate rather than their own will. Motionless and mute the groups of citizens looked on, terror-stricken, yet every pallid face lowering with dumb execration. The locomotives, as the flames licked their iron bodies, and the heated air rushed through the steam-whistles, despite of mechanism and natural philosophy, impressed the spectator with the idea that they were living victims, who moaned and shrieked with an agony surpassing human comprehension. It was a fitting overture to the Great Drama of the nineteenth century, typifying coming events. A frantic war of barbaric pride, ignorance and passion against the empire of arts, industry, and civilization.

IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER. INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS CATARRH OF THE BLADDER.

STRANGUARY AND BURNING, OR PAINFUL URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms.

Are you troubled with that distressing pain in the small of the back and through the hips. A teaspoonful a day of the Constitution Water will relieve you like magic.

PHYSICIANS

Have long since given up the use of buchu, cubebs and juniper in the treatment of these diseases, and only use them for the want of a betterr remedy.

CONSTITUTION WATER

Has proved itself equal to the task that has devolved upon it.

DIURETICS

Irritate and drench the kidneys, and by constant use soon lead to chronic degeneration and confirmed disease.

We present the Constitution Water to the public with the conviction that it has no equal in relieving the class of diseases for which it has been found so eminently successful in curing; and we trust that we shall be rewarded for our efforts in placing so valuable a remedy in a form to meet the requirements of patient and physician.

STROUDSBURG, PA., Jan 20, 1866.

DR. (GREGG:

Dear Sir:—I wish to inform you that I have been under the treatment of some of our best physicians for nearly two years, without receiving any benefit. I had lost all confidence, and I indulged in but little hope of a cure from any source. My disease was Dropsy, and my physicians told me that there was no cure for me. I was tapped some fifty times, and at the different operations about 1200 pounds of water was removed.

I am happy to inform you that I have been completely restored to health by the use of Constitution Water.

I make this statement hoping it may reach those persons who may be similarly afflicted.

Respectfully,

MRS. MARGILL C. LEVANWAY.

IN DYSMENORRHŒA, OR PAINFUL MENSTRUATION, AND MENORRHAGIA, OR PROFUSE FLOWING.

Both diseases arising from a faulty secretion of the menstrual fluid—in one case being too little and accompanied by severe pain, and the other a too profuse secretion, which will be speedily cured by the Constitution Water.

That disease known as FALLING OF THE WOMB, which is the result of a relaxation of the ligaments of that organ, and is known by a sense of heaviness and dragging pains in the back and sides and at times accompanied by sharp, lancinating or shooting pains through the parts, will, in all cases, be removed by the medicine.

There is another class of symptoms arising from IRRITATION OF THE WOMB, which physicians call Nervousness, which word covers up much ignorance, and in nine cases out of ten the doctor does not really know whether the symptoms are the disease, or the disease the symptoms. We can only enumerate them here. I speak more particularly of Cold Feet, Palpitation of the Heart, Impaired Memory, Wakefulness, Flashes of Heat, Languor, Lassitude, and Dimness of Vision.

READ! READ!! READ!!!

DANTILLE, Pa., June, 1862.—Dr. William H. Gregg—Dear Sir:—In February, 1861, I was afflicted with sugar diabetes, and for five months I passed more than two gallons of water in twenty-four hours. I was obliged to get up as often as ten or twelve times during the night, and in five months I lost about fifty pounds in weight. During the month of July, 1861, I procured two bottles of Constitution Water, and in two days after using it I experienced relief, and after taking two bottles I was entirely cured soon after regaining my usual good health.

Yours truly, J. V. L. DEWITT.

BOSTON CORNERS, N. Y., Dec. 27, 1861.—Wm. H. Gregg & Co—Gents.:—I freely give you liberty to make use of the following certificate of the value of the Constitution Water, which I can recommend in the highest manner:—My wife was attacked with pain in the shoulders, whole length of the back, and in her limbs, with palpitation of the heart and irritation of the bladder. I called a physician, who attended her about three months, when he left her worse than he found her. I then employed one of the best physicians I could find, who attended her for about nine months, and while she was under his care she did not suffer quite as much pain. He finally gave her up, and said "her case was incurable. For!" said he, "she has such a combination of complaints that medicine given for one operates against some other of her difficulties." About this time she commenced to use the Constitution Water, and to our utter astonishment, almost the first dose seemed to have the desired effect, and she kept on improving rapidly under its treatment, and now superintends entirely her domestic affairs. She has not taken any of the Constitution Water for about four weeks, and we are happy to say that it has produced a permanent cure.

WM. M. VAN BEUSCHOTEN.

WEATHERSFIELD, Conn., March 2, 1863.—Dr. W. H. Gregg.—Dear Sir:—Having seen your advertisement of "Constitution Water," recommended for Inflammation of the Kidneys and Irritation of the Bladder, having suffered for the past three years, and tried the skill of a number of physicians with only temporary relief, I was induced to try your medicine. I procured one bottle of your agents at Hartford, Messrs. Lee, Sisson & Co., and when I had used half of it, to my surprise, I found a great change in my health. I have used two bottles of it and am where I never expected to be in my life, well, and in good spirits. I cannot express my gratitude for it; I feel that it is all and more than you recommended it to be. May the blessing of God ever attend you in your labors of love.

Notice to the Public!

In the year 1846, the writer embarked in the Drug Business in the city of Philadelphia, and while thus engaged, made several experiments in regard to the most desirable mode of preparing Fluid Extracts.—My efforts being successful—the articles being approved and used by the Medical Faculty—I was desirous of placing them before the public, but hesitated for some time before concluding to resort to newspaper advertising, knowing the prejudice that existed in the minds of many against using advertised Medicines or Nostrums, but through the advice of friends and those who had used them this objection was overcome.

After 18 years' exertion, commencing in a small way, the popularity of my articles has extended to, all parts of the United States, and widely throughout foreign countries—and this in the face of much opposition. Every means has been resorted to by unprincipled dealers since their merit and success has been known—such as advertising larger bottles at less price, censuring and calling all other preparations, and even copying my advertisement—but I am happy to state that out of the many who have resorted to this, none have been successful.

MY OBJECT

In this notice is to make facts known to the public and respectable dealers, believing, after so many years' exertions, that the Druggists will discountenance such proceedings, and that the reputation of my articles may not be damaged by use of inferior or spurious ones.

Knowing that many may read this article who are unacquainted with me, I append a few remarks from those of my native city, and whose names are known in all parts of the world:

"Being personally acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold, it affords me pleasure in stating I have been most favorably impressed with his energy and integrity, and gratified at his success."

WM. WEIGHTMAN,
Firm of Powers & Weightman,
Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

[Evening Bulletin, Philadelphia.]

"When on a visit to the city of New York a few days since, I was induced to call on our old friend and townsman Mr. H. T. Helmbold, Druggist, 594 Broadway, New York. His store is a Model—a perfect Gem—the handsomest of any kind we have ever had the pleasure of viewing, and so extensive, being 34 feet front, five stories in height, and over 200 feet deep. It indeed affords us much pleasure to know that he has been so successful, and it is ample evidence of the merits of his articles—as in our whole business experience we have not known of the success of any articles without Merit—advertising merely bringing the name before the people."

[Boston Herald.]

"We do not like to advertise worthless wares, or articles calculated to deceive our readers; and when we see an advertiser like Mr. Helmbold, whom we have known for years, gradually extend his advertising, from year to year, until he becomes the largest advertiser in the United States, we are satisfied that the statements in regard to his articles must be correct."

The writer reluctantly inserts the above, and would not do so were he not a stranger to many; and concludes by stating the names of his articles, and the diseases for which they have been used by many thousands with complete success.
